

APRA IS THERE TO LOOK AFTER THE SONGWRITER

For years now I have been encouraged to sign up to APRA and for years I just didn't get around to it cause I thought that it would take up too much time and be too hard.

Not long ago I did sign up and was shocked at how easy it was. APRA takes the worry out of keeping track of who is playing my music, and they collect any royalties I am entitled to.

APRA is there to look after songwriters and in my opinion is "Too Deadly".

Each of my songs are a little piece of me and now that they are all registered with APRA I feel reassured that this is so.
